Gateshead Council is committed to promoting the development of its staff through supervision in order to ensure that Service Users receive a quality service which is safe and efficient and staff are enabled to develop their skills and knowledge.

SUPERVISION

1. Introduction

The following guidance and framework has been developed for all experienced child care workers / Approved Mental Health Professionals (AMHP) working within the Emergency Duty Team (EDT). The focus throughout the supervision process is to support and enable the delivery of a safe, high quality service for children, young people, vulnerable adults, families and wider communities as well as identifying needs / opportunities for Continuous Professional Development (CPD). EDT is a statutory generic social work service that applies out of office hours where a response is necessary immediately to achieve excellent outcomes for all using current best practice and legislation whilst adhering to local and national policy.

2. Policy Context:

The Standards for Employers of social workers in England apply to all employers of social workers and describe the joint expectation on employers and social workers to ensure that CPD is ongoing. They also outline the entitlement each social worker has to CPD and the expectation that all social workers will have access to reflective supervision, provided by a registered social worker.

The professional capabilities framework (PCF) provides the standards and expectations for all social workers as they progress through their professional development.

Current regulator, HCPC standards of conduct performance and ethics (SCPE) The SCPE are the standards set for all the professionals on the HCPC Register, stating in broad terms expectations of behaviour and conduct. These may be superseded by any change to regulatory framework.

Mental Health Act 1983: Code of Practice. Applies to all actions and duties in relation to AMHP functions.

“Supervision must enable and support workers to build effective professional relationships, develop good practice, and exercise both professional judgement and discretion in decision-making. For supervision to be effective it needs to combine a performance management approach with a dynamic, empowering and enabling supervisory relationship. Supervision should improve the quality of practice, support the development of integrated working and ensure continuing professional development. Supervision should contribute to the development of a learning culture by promoting an approach that develops the confidence and competence of managers in their supervision skills. It is therefore at the core of individual and group continuing professional development”, (Skills for Care 2007).

We recognise that services can only be delivered by competent staff who:

- Know what is expected of them, understand their role and their responsibilities;
- Have sufficient and manageable capacity.
- Have the skills, knowledge and qualifications needed to do their job;
- Have access to training and development opportunities;
- Are supported and managed effectively.
- Are enabled to reflect critically on their practice in a safe and trusting environment.

4. Principles of Supervision

The purpose of supervision is to ensure our service meets its statutory requirements by focusing on developing and motivating staff for the benefit of the individual, the organisation as a whole and the families we work with. We aim to achieve this through the following principles:

- Supporting and developing a strong culture of reflective practice and adaptive learning
- Offering an opportunity to debrief on specific AMHP assessments or other matters that can wait for formal supervision.
- Seeing social work supervision and consultation as an activity that is not isolated or limited to a monthly meeting.
- Ensure that formal supervision takes place regularly and consistently and when cancelled is rearranged in a timely manner, where practicable due to shift patterns and availability.
- Ensuring manager/supervisor availability when social Work activity is taking place via an on-call management system.
- Promoting and encouraging continuous learning and knowledge sharing.
- Providing regular supervision training for social work supervisors.
- Providing professional supervision by a registered social worker for Social Workers whose line manager is not a social worker.
- Ensure that supervision time is protected and uninterrupted.
- The best interests of children and young people are paramount. To reflect on the needs of vulnerable adults, carers and communities.
- Supervision promotes and models anti-discriminatory practice.
- Supervision is cognisant of adult learning theory.

5. The functions of supervision include: (Based on Tony Morrison's work , 2005)

5.1. Management-Ensuring competent/accountable practice and performance

The purpose of this function is to ensure that work for which staff may be held accountable is carried out to a satisfactory standard within the Council's Policies and Procedures. This function will be achieved through:

- Ensuring that records and administration are complete.
- Conducting regular appraisal and development.
- Evaluating the effectiveness of all practice areas and outcomes through reflection and professional challenge.
- Celebrating success and acknowledging work done well.
- Supporting contributions to the organisation and service.

5.2. Staff Development-Facilitating continuous professional development

The purpose of this function is to enable staff to reflect on their own competence and to facilitate their development through the identification of learning opportunities. This will be achieved through:

- Identifying preferred learning styles and barriers to learning.
- Assessing development needs and identifying learning opportunities.
- Constructing, implementing and reviewing personal development plans.
- Giving constructive feedback on all aspects of performance.
- Developing a 'culture of learning'
- Compliance with anti-discriminatory practice

5.3. Support-Providing personal and emotional support

The purpose of this is to ensure that all staff are given the opportunity to reflect on the impact of the work on them, and prevent issues adversely affecting their work with Service Users. This will be achieved through:

- Creating a safe environment within supervision.
- Clarifying the boundaries between support, counselling, consultation and confidentiality.
- Enabling and empowering expression of feelings.
- Monitoring the health and emotional functioning of the staff member, especially with regards to the effect of stress.

5.4. Mediation-Engaging the individual with the organisation

The purpose of this function is to ensure that issues arising from the interface between the staff member, team and the organisation are dealt with satisfactorily.

This will be achieved through:

- Clarifying the team's role and function.

- > Briefing senior management about key issues.
- > Managing concerns and complaints about colleagues.
- > Consulting and briefing staff on organisational developments.
- > Contributing to policy and procedures developments within EDT service and wider organisation.

6. Supervision Methods

6.1. Individual – Formal, regular one to one supervision which takes place in private at a pre-arranged time, at the beginning of which an agenda is agreed. This method of supervision will be in place for all staff.

6.2. Responsive Supervision – Supervision which takes place either individually, or in a group, in response to a particular set of circumstances. This may take the form of a member of staff ‘checking out’ a particular decision that needs to be made immediately or debriefing a staff member following an incident or crisis. This will be provided by on-call management or EDT manager where available.

6.3. Group Supervision – This will involve a group of staff, who are all involved in the same task, meeting with a Supervisor to discuss issues about the work they are doing and the way they work together as a team. This may form part of a staff meeting and will include case discussion focusing on individual children, families, young people, vulnerable adults, carers and / or wider community issues.

7. Observation of practice: As a minimum Practice Supervisors should observe their supervisee in practice once a year. See attached template at appendix 5

8. Quality Assurance:

8.1. The quality of case supervision will be audited as part of the Councils regular schedule of case file audits. The outcomes of these audits will be reported to senior leaders and staff throughout CWL. These will inform any necessary training and development opportunities for both supervisors and supervisees.

8.2. Supervision files will be audited on an annual basis by the Senior Practice Supervisor where they manage Practice supervisors and the Service Manager for their Senior Practice Supervisors. The findings should be discussed with their Service Manager. The supervisee will have the right to remove any sensitive personal information prior to any audit. See attached template at appendix 4

9. Procedures

9.1. The frequency of supervision in Children & Families Emergency Duty Team Service is as follows:

Highly Experienced Child Care (EDT Workers).	Monthly
Senior Practice Supervisor.	Monthly

Part time staff should receive adequate and appropriate supervision. The frequency of supervision should be agreed with the staff member, taking into account the individual's working arrangements and the standard set out above. Sessional staff will receive necessary responsive supervision and Individual supervision from their substantive line management.

The supervision of students will be at the discretion of the manager and Practice Educator and will take place on either a weekly or fortnightly basis as agreed in the Practice Learning Agreement.

10. Supervision Agreements

The Supervision Agreement (see appendix 1) will capture the foundation of the relationship between each individual worker and their supervisor. It must be negotiated and agreed on an individual basis and reviewed on an annual basis or earlier if necessary.

11. Confidentiality

Supervision is a private but not necessarily a confidential process. Supervisors will maintain confidentiality with regard to personal information about their supervisees unless it is relevant to:

- i) Make recommendations for action concerning that worker's professional performance.
- ii) The pursuit of disciplinary action involving that worker
- iii) If the Supervisor feels it is necessary to disclose confidential information to their Line Manager, this will only be done with the full knowledge of the Supervisee.

Supervision records are the property of the organisation, although, personal information not relevant to work issues should not be recorded in formal supervision records.

12. The complaint and review process

Supervisees should be clear about whom they can contact if they feel that the terms of their Supervision Agreement are not being met and this cannot be resolved within the supervision and review process. If supervisees have concerns in relation to their Supervision Agreement this should be discussed with the appropriate Service Manager.

A review of the Supervision Agreement should be undertaken regularly.

13. Supervision Records

Supervision records should demonstrate that the following minimum standards and objectives are met.

Objectives

- Those operations of the team are consistent with the objectives of the Children & Families Service Emergency Duty Team.
- Those workers are clear about their roles and responsibilities.
- That an appropriate climate/culture exists in which to promote good practice.
- To assist professional development.
- To reduce problems likely to affect worker's abilities to deliver services.

Staff receiving supervision are responsible for:

- Preparing for supervision by contributing to an agenda;
- Providing feedback on plans and progress of service objectives
- Identifying their own planning and development needs;
- Contributing to the development of a personal Development Plan.
- An example of the issues to be covered in a Supervision Agreement can be found on page10.

14. Supervision Records.

14.1. Record Keeping:

- The recording of personal supervision sessions is the responsibility of both parties with one taking ownership of drafting the supervision record.
- Reflecting on case examples will be key to understanding practice and supporting the service to meet its needs. These records will focus on practice and learning. Specific issues with any previous involvement, challenges or examples of outstanding practice, will be recorded separately and distinctly.
- It is expected that both parties will review records and sign any records in a timely manner once they are available. Each takes responsibility for ensuring this is done.

14.2. Access – Supervision records and contracts of supervision are the property of the Children's Services Directorate, and not the individual. They are private documents, but not confidential, and may be viewed by line managers, inspectors and others as and when appropriate.

14.3. Storage – The completed contract, and supervision notes, will be kept on the supervisee's Supervision Record for future reference upon leaving the council. Copies of the supervision record will also be stored and accessible to both in the shared EDT drive.

14.4. Training Profile – Where training is identified and offered but not taken this will be recorded in a separate training file, recorded in supervision notes and may be referred to in any A&D process and recording.

14.5. Training Account - Each worker is allocated training hours for use during the financial year. These are to cover mandatory training as well as opportunities identified by the supervisee and supervisor. It is expected that this will allow a degree of planning and prioritisation of need. This account must be cleared each year as close as possible to zero. There will be exceptions made in times of long term sickness absence or other extenuating circumstances.

15. Brief guidance for Supervisors

It may be helpful for supervisors to reflect on the following points:

- How does the supervisee best learn? Are there any blocks to their learning which need to be worked upon?
- Have I been clear on any aspects of performance which need to be developed, improved and expanded?
- Have I provided constructive feedback which is fair and well evidenced?
- Have I acknowledged their successes and validated them as a professional?
- Am I clear about the boundaries between support, counselling, consultation and confidentiality in supervision?
- How have I enabled the supervisee to feel safe in evaluating their practice and how might this impact on their perception of themselves?
- Have I provided an environment that encourages honesty, reflection and openness?
- Is the worker clear about their roles and responsibilities?
- Have I been clear of what is expected?
- Have I got the balance of time spent discussing case examples and other activities appropriate?

For overall workload:

- Does the worker understand the administrative and procedural requirements of their role? Do they know where to obtain relevant information or whom to consult?
- Have relevant 'practice' issues been considered, e.g. alternative ways of working; different approaches and techniques; has consideration been given to relevant literature or research which may inform practice? Are there any personnel with skills/knowledge it may be useful to consult?
- Does the worker have sufficient capacity perform their role safely?
- What type of support would be most suitable to consolidate or expand skills/knowledge?
